Army man accused of defiling girl aged nine

A man with the Kenya Defence Forces was yesterday charged at a Nakuru court with defiling a nine-year-old girl. Mr Isaac Onsongo was accused of repeatedly defiling the minor between September 2, 2015, and July 23 this year at his house in Mwariki in Nakuru town. The prosecution told the court that the accused is attached to an army company and is also a medic at the Lanet barracks. The accused, however, denied the charges and was released on a Sh200,000 bond with a surety of a similar amount. — Millicent Maube

KWS puts down rogue elephant

Nyeri > Residents of Mitero village in Nyeri county view the carcass of an elephant that was shot by KWS wardens after it had charged the public yesterday. It broke off from a herd that had destroyed crops in local farms. The wardens were trying to drive the animals back to the Aberdare National Park.
